SOUTHERN COMFORT ANIMAL RESCUE

Providing love, care and shelter for homeless dogs since 2001

Dog Transport to the Rescue!

Dear friends of SoCo,

I hope everyone is doing well and trying to stay cool. The amazing folks here at SoCo have been busy overseeing the wellness of each pup...and squeezing in as many hugs as possible. Aside from the gratifying nature of our mission comes the pressures of providing and maintaining the most optimum care for our dogs and puppies.

Due to the staggering number of daily demands at the rescue, I haven't been able to bring the Freedom Ride bus to New Jersey. Unfortunately, the weather has not cooperated with Matt and the FlyPups crew to make the flight. As a result, our dog food supply is running low and the much-needed dog food donations are waiting for us up north. We also depend on the adoption payments to keep the rescue operating. Yes, we all want to wrap our hearts around the joys of fostering and adoption, but the reality is, it takes a village to bring that type of success to fruition.

Rescuing is not limited to saving the lives of our dogs and puppies; it also responds to an unwavering spirit of giving from our friends to keep SoCo functioning. Here's an example of enduring support: One day, a conversation was started, then, plans were made. On Wednesday, June 19th, Kevin Kime rented a van and headed to meet a volunteer who kindly stored our donated dog food. Many thoughtful hands helped him fill the van with dog food and other supplies. Early Thursday morning, Kevin departed on the 12-hour journey south. At the same time, Bella Zodel and her co-pilot Rebecca headed in the same direction. On Friday morning, I loaded 14 dogs into the bus and met this team in Pooler, GA where we transferred the dogs and the supplies. (The photo below depicts that amazing scene). I was ecstatic to be heading home with loads of dog food and toting the knowledge that those 14 dogs and pups would soon be in loving homes. The journey continued!

The caravan headed north and even stopped in South Carolina to transport two dogs to another rescue. Around midnight, more volunteers met the caravan in West Winsor to pick up and foster the dogs until the next morning. Then off they went to Tractor Supply for their big day, it was Adoption Day!

It continuously brings tears to my eyes recounting all the efforts that had gone into this venture. My heart is blanketed with gratitude for the love, support, and commitment selflessly gifted to our mission so that we may continue saving dogs and giving them the lives they deserve. Since it's tricky to acknowledge every volunteer in person, please consider the sentiment of this letter my way of thanking all of you for being a part of our SoCo family.

Warmly,
Scott Bennett
SoCo President and CEO
